Foreword

1951 marks the 25th year the Echo has been in existence. During these 25 years it has served to record and call to memory the many hours spent at Lee; the new and deeper understandings acquired through the contacts with the faculty and fellow students; a keener sense of fair play attained through competition and sportsmanship; and the golden days that only youth and its warm friendships can bring.

We, the class of '51, are proud to celebrate with you the Silver Anniversary of the Echo. With this annual comes the hope that we, who are now being graduated, and those who are to follow may, while looking toward the horizon of the future, never forget Lee or the echoes of the past.

REUBEN L. YOUNG

Dedication

The business world often rewards those employees who have given long and faithful service by presenting gold watches, pins, or public acclaim. Lee High School has such a faithful servant in its employ, Mr. Young. 1951 marks the twenty-fifth year that he has been at Lee, both as teacher and as principal. In those twenty-five years he has proved his unswerving devotion to duty, his willingness to counsel and advise, and his deep sense of fairness to all.

We, the class of 1951, do not have any watches or pins to bestow; however, in recognition of his service, we dedicate the silver anniversary issue of the Echo to him —

"Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Echo Staff

Once again the Echo staff, after many hours of labor, presents to you the 1951 annual. Our Echo, we'll admit, may never become famous like many of the current novels or a masterpiece to be preserved for generations to come. However, if it brings to you memories of your happy school days, or a chuckle or two, we have attained our goal.

These men are in charge of administration. Through their efforts we have been guided toward a deeper sense of responsibility and understanding. They and the school board make the big decisions regarding order, discipline, and operations of the school.

Mr. Young and Mr. Fry are men of whom we may well be proud.

SCHOOL BOARD

Many people do not realize the important role these men play in community life. From their meetings emerge decisions which affect each person individually and as a group. Our hats are off to the Board of Education for all they have done to make Lee and surrounding areas a better place in which to live.

"Hey, don't throw that hay!" These were the words echoed forth on the first senior party — a hayride. The next party that was held was the Christmas party which took place in the library.

Then the Senior year became busy with picture taking and the choosing of announcements.

Early in March Sue Kinsey was elected to write the class prophecy, Walter Hay the class will, and Lillian Hooker the class history. A little later in the month the valedictorian and salutatorian were announced.

The highlight of the year was the trip to Chicago followed by class day and skip day.

Baccalaureate services were held at Eighth Reformed church and on June 7, 1951, commencement.

Class History

The music drifts in through the flapping door of the gypsy fortune teller's tent. In the middle of the tent sits a weird-looking, withered old woman peering in the crystal ball on the table before her. Even now an image is being formed in the cloudy glow of the ball. The old gypsy leans forward and cackles with glee.

The crystal ball, with its magical powers, has cut through the curtains of time to bring back former years.

Why, look! It's Lee High School in the year 1948, and there's our class when we were freshmen. Remember who the class officers were that year? Robert Timmer was the president, Don Opdendyk was vice-president, LaVerne DeYoung was secretary and Marian Molenkamp was the treasurer.

See what image is being formed in the crystal ball now. It's the class party we had that year, and there's Mr. Morrison, our class advisor, acting as chaperon. There's the whole gang of us playing wink-um. We certainly had fun that night.

Now the light fades from the ball and the tent is in a deep darkness. Soon another image is formed in the ball.

It is our class again, but now we are not those feeble beginners; we are walking through the halls of Lee with the confidence of the experienced. We are now sophomores.

There are class officers seated around a table with the class advisor, Mr. Morrison. The president, Peter Thoms, vice-president, Alvin Bytwork, secretary, Betty McGrath, and the treasurer, Norman Thoms, are discussing the successful Christmas party which was held in the gym.

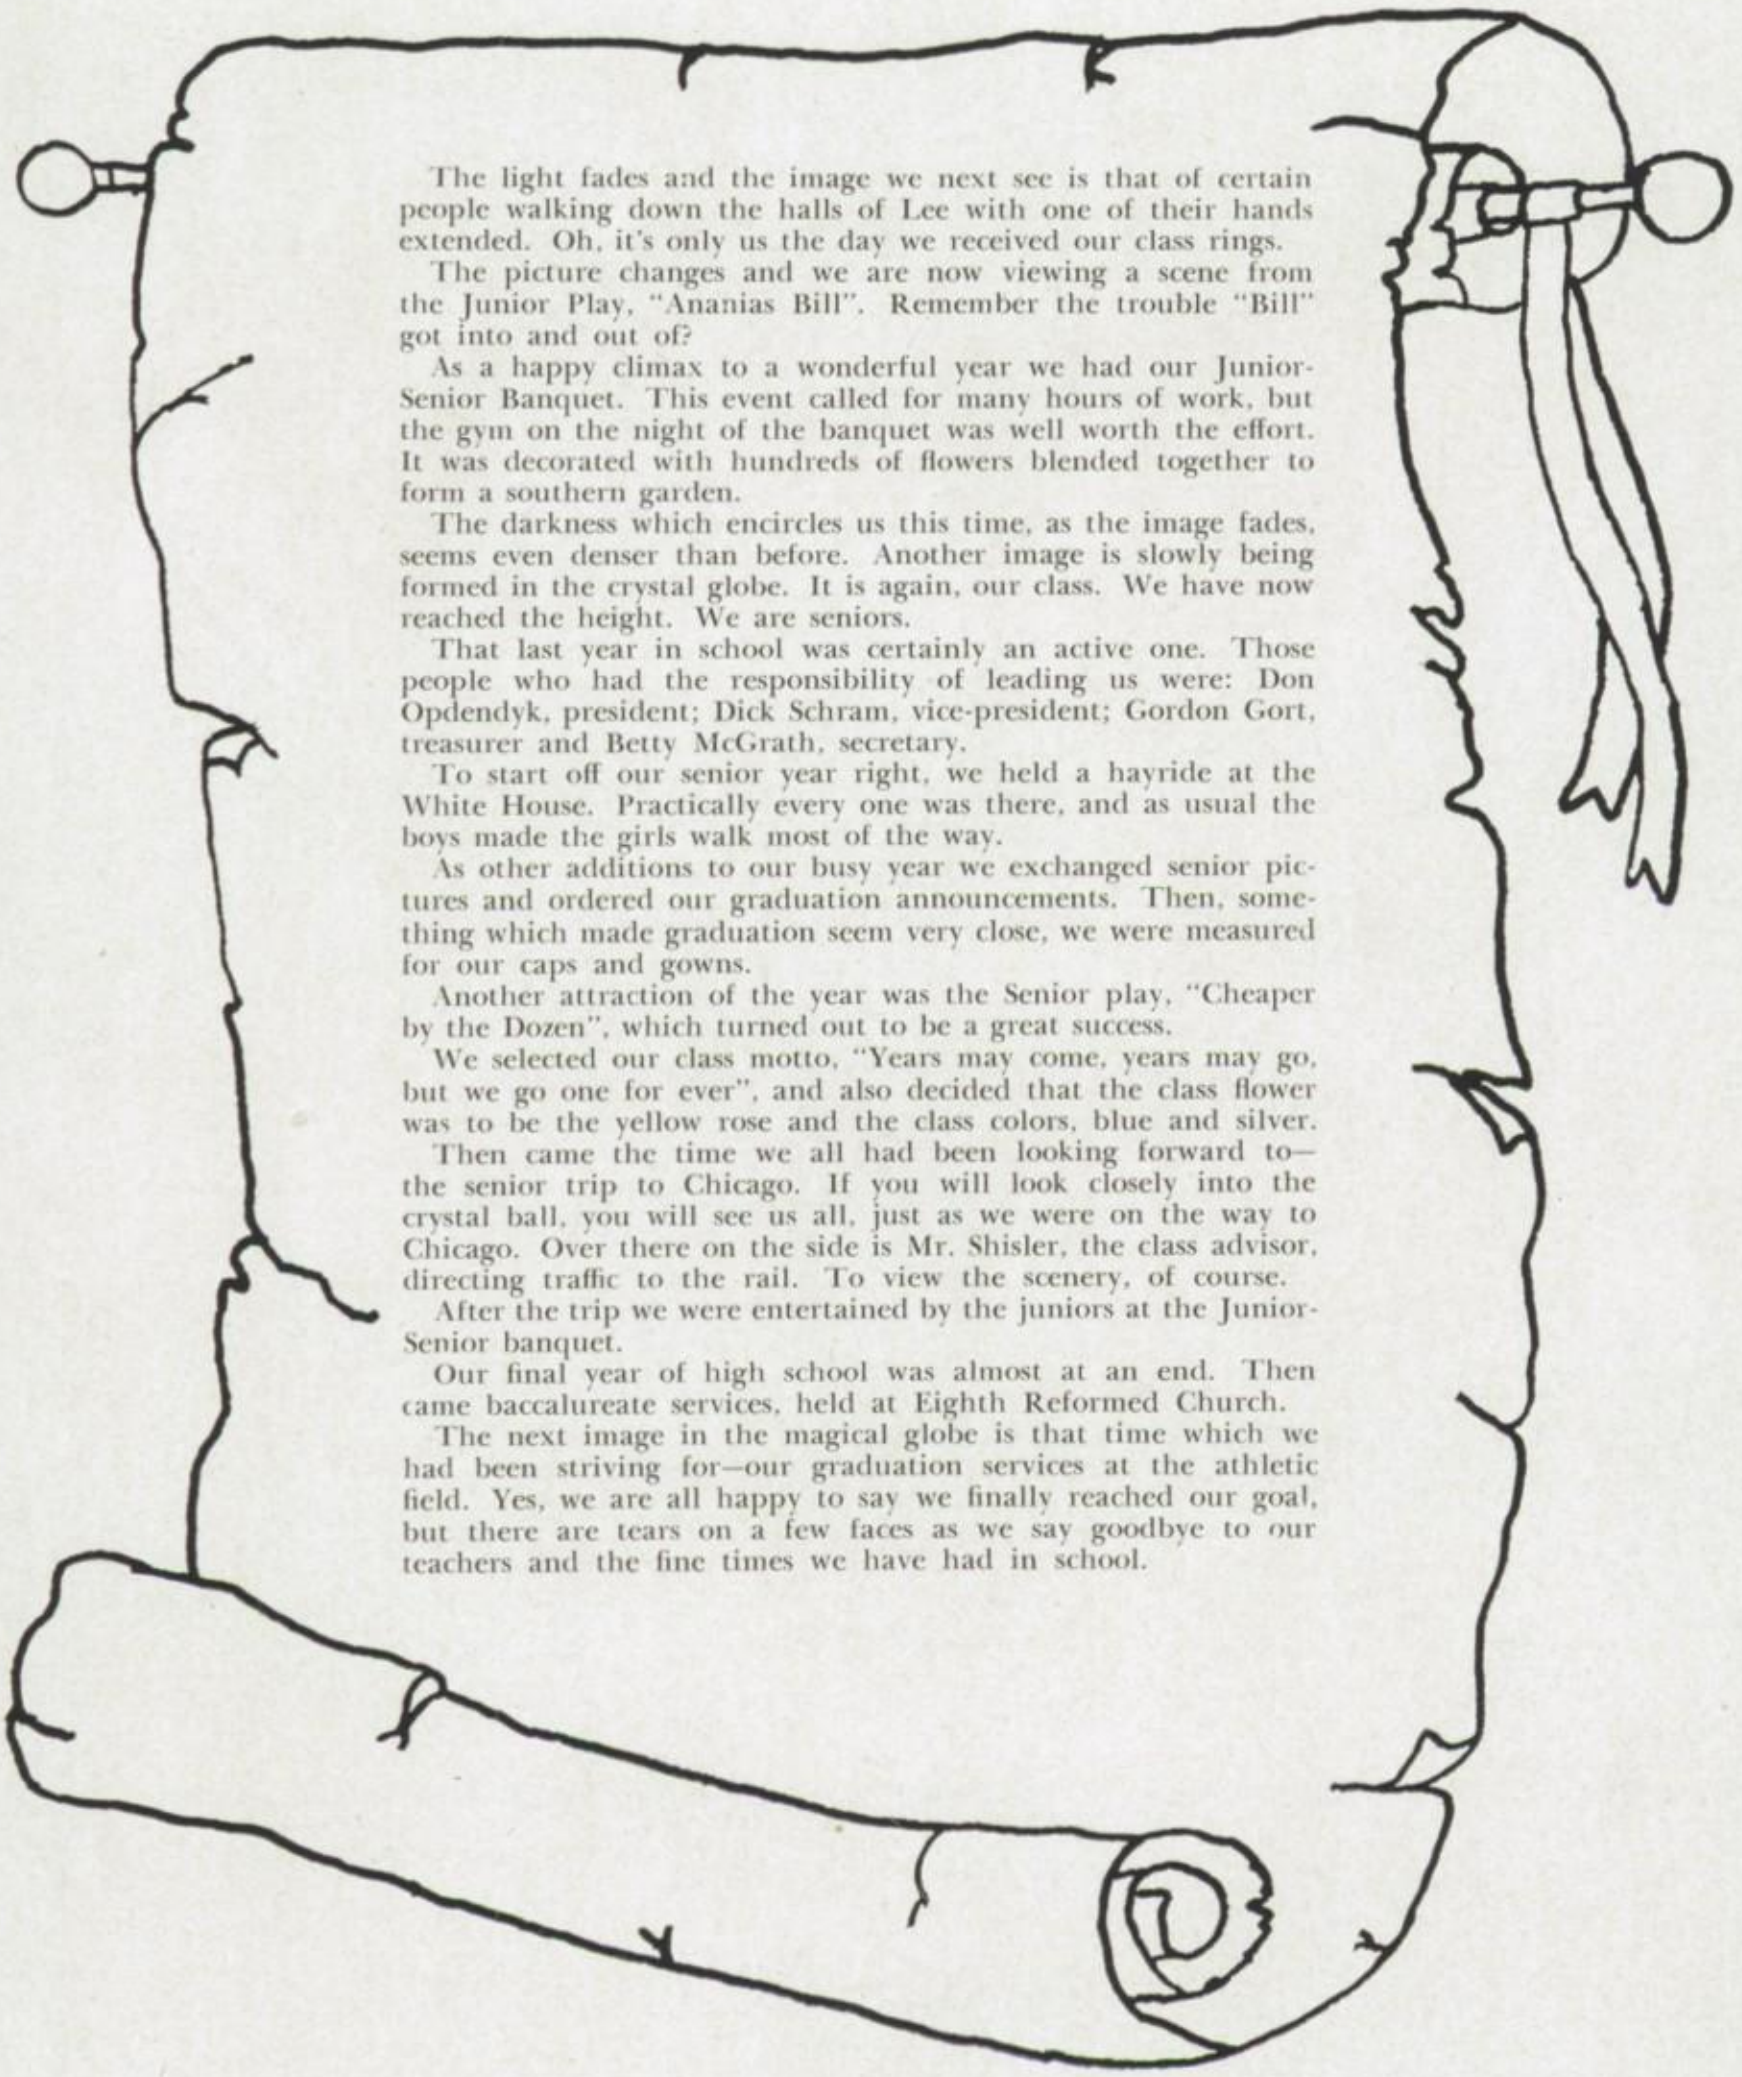
This image fades and the next picture before us is that of the party we had the following spring. The gym is decorated with brightly colored balloons; everyone is having a wonderful time.

Darkness envelops the tent and the old gypsy mumbles a few words to make the next image form in the globe.

It is a group of scurrying people going from door to door selling magazine subscriptions. Yet, it is our class and we have now reached the status of juniors.

In our junior year we organized early and these people were elected to lead us: Gordon Gort, president; Jack Wright, vice-president; Alvin Bytwork, secretary; and Robert Timmer, treas urer.

The magazine sale we had that year was a huge success and so was the potluck dinner we had to celebrate the close of the campaign.



The light fades and the image we next see is that of certain people walking down the halls of Lee with one of their hands extended. Oh, it's only us the day we received our class rings.

The picture changes and we are now viewing a scene from the Junior Play, "Ananias Bill". Remember the trouble "Bill" got into and out of?

As a happy climax to a wonderful year we had our Junior-Senior Banquet. This event called for many hours of work, but the gym on the night of the banquet was well worth the effort. It was decorated with hundreds of flowers blended together to form a southern garden.

The darkness which encircles us this time, as the image fades, seems even denser than before. Another image is slowly being formed in the crystal globe. It is again, our class. We have now reached the height. We are seniors.

That last year in school was certainly an active one. Those people who had the responsibility of leading us were: Don Opdendyk, president; Dick Schram, vice-president; Gordon Gort, treasurer and Betty McGrath, secretary.

To start off our senior year right, we held a hayride at the White House. Practically every one was there, and as usual the boys made the girls walk most of the way.

As other additions to our busy year we exchanged senior pictures and ordered our graduation announcements. Then, something which made graduation seem very close, we were measured for our caps and gowns.

Another attraction of the year was the Senior play, "Cheaper by the Dozen", which turned out to be a great success.

We selected our class motto, "Years may come, years may go, but we go one for ever", and also decided that the class flower was to be the yellow rose and the class colors, blue and silver.

Then came the time we all had been looking forward to—the senior trip to Chicago. If you will look closely into the crystal ball, you will see us all, just as we were on the way to Chicago. Over there on the side is Mr. Shisler, the class advisor, directing traffic to the rail. To view the scenery, of course.

After the trip we were entertained by the juniors at the Junior-Senior banquet.

Our final year of high school was almost at an end. Then came baccalureate services, held at Eighth Reformed Church.

The next image in the magical globe is that time which we had been striving for—our graduation services at the athletic field. Yes, we are all happy to say we finally reached our goal, but there are tears on a few faces as we say goodbye to our teachers and the fine times we have had in school.

Class

The Junior Class got off to an early start by electing their officers and selecting their class rings. The magazine sale, which came next, proved to be a great success. The Junior Play, "They Gave Him A Coed", was a very good play with an excellent cast. In the second semester the 1952 Echo Staff was elected. The final event for the Juniors was the preparation for the Junior-Senior Banquet.

"Remember thy creator in the days of thy Youth." You've heard about it, you've wondered about it, but what is it? This year the Bible clubs from the different schools have banded together and have gone under one name, "Truth For Youth Clubs." Every month they have meetings, which have been a great success, among the high schoolers all over the city. Each of the clubs has increased greatly in size since the first part of the year. Officers are elected for each individual club as well as officers for the city-wide clubs. T.F.Y., besides having monthly hymn sings, has a basketball league and a choral group. A roller skating party was held at Ramona Gardens and other parties at the Y.M.C.A. Truth For Youth is not a closed organization and everyone is welcome to join.

After organizing early in September the year's social program was planned with a great deal of enthusiasm. The first event of the year was a Hallowe'en Party followed by a Progressive Dinner on a cold winter night. Later in the semester a candy-packing affair was held in the kitchen. Late in March the girls held a party with the L-Club and early in April the G.A.A. sponsored a Roller Skating party at Ramona Gardens. The final event of the year was the Farewell Dinner to the Seniors. During the year several play days were held and a bowling team, which met every Monday, was organized. This year a number of girls earned their numerals by participating in different sports.

Hi - Y

The first event of the year for the Hi-Y was the initiation which admitted new members to the club. Among other activities the members decorated the goal posts for all the home football games. Lee was well represented at the Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y State Legislature at Lansing. This was a training program where boys and girls took over the reins of the government. Those who attended were George Stryker, Walt Hay, and Doug DeCator. In February the boys joined with the Senior Y-Teens to hold a hayride which was held at the White House. As usual the Hi-Y basketball team had a very successful season.

L - Club

The L-Club, sponsored by Mr. Sabin, was very active throughout the year. To begin the first semester's activities, the club sold peanuts at football games as a means of building up its treasury. The next event was the initiation at Burton Gym during a basketball game. Five boys were initiated here. They performed various stunts before the crowd during halftime and between games. In the second semester the initiation party was held at school. A football movie was shown and pop and hotdogs were served. Following this the L-Club combined with the G.A.A. to have a scavenger hunt. This was enjoyed by all who were present and is likely to promote more inter-club parties. The final party came in June at the beach. Here all the letter winners of basketball, track, baseball and tennis were initiated. The water was cold but most of the boys went swimming anyway—the initiates.

The Latin Club organized early in the fall under the sponsorship of Miss Riddering. The meetings were held the third Thursday of every month, usually after school. Pat Alward, program chairman, presented the club with very interesting meetings and Catherine Vlietstra, refreshment chairman, provided the group with inexpensive refreshments. Both girls proved to be very capable chairmen. In February, the club celebrated Valentine's Day, which originates from the Romans, by making valentines which were written in Latin. A skit was also given at this meeting. In March, they started preparations for the Roman Banquet, which climaxes the activities of the Latin Club. All members helped with the preparations and the banquet was truly enjoyed by all who attended. Although the club did not undertake many outstanding activities, the members received benefits by learning more about Rome and Roman life.

The Library Club is a "behind the scenes" organization whose purpose is to give better library service to students and faculty and to promote interest in the school library. The members of the club are also members of the state organization of Student Library Assistants Association. The club works closely with the Kent County Library in furthering their programs for the County Student Assistants; representatives from our group were members of the County Planning Committee for the March meeting of that group. During the year dull care was lightened by having a Halloween party, a Christmas party and in early March, a potluck.

Red Cross

The Junior Red Cross began its activities by having an assembly in October. At this assembly reports were given about the convention at Clear Lake and the summer camp at Barrow Lake. It was also the beginning of the Red Cross drive which was once again won by the Seniors. The club made tray favors for patients at Percy Jones Hospital and the girls sewed squares for afghans. A Care package was sent which was paid for by profits from candy and drumstick sales. In April a special meeting was planned with a fine program. To end the year's activities a picnic was held at Johnson Park in May.

Student Council

With an ambitious and determined group the Council was organized early in the semester and projects for the coming year were planned. The Assembly committee arranged for weekly, interesting programs. Perhaps the most interesting was one given by Cecil Houghton on his two years in Greenland. The Convalescent committee was alert and missed no one who was ill. When spring came the Park and Grounds committee swung into action with members of its group speaking strongly to session rooms "to keep off the grass." After Harold Wynsma's serious injury in football, the Student Council took the initiative in soliciting contributions to help defray the expense. As its main project, the Student Council presented to the student body a plan for having paid assemblies. The idea was adopted by unanimous vote. The programs are to begin next year. Not to overlook the social activities of the council, a hayride was held in March.

The Senior Y-Teens, sponsored by Miss Winter, had a very active year. The first big event was a roller-skating party, sponsored by the club, held at Ramona Gardens. Everyone who attended had loads of fun. December ended with a Christmas party. The organization also pledged $12.00 for World Fellowship. Valentine's day was made a great success by having a hayride with the Hi-Y. Arlene Waalkes and Carol Crandle attended the winter conference which was held at Lansing. Throughout the year the club sold candy to raise money for the Mother-Daughter Banquet, which was the highlight of the semester.

The Ninth Grade Y-Teens organized early in the fall with Miss Huizinga as their sponsor and Pat Buchholz as president. The thirty-two girls who belong to the club have had many good times and have also helped others. A Halloween party, a Christmas party and Valentine party were enjoyed by all, but the outstanding social event of the year was an Interclub Banquet at the Y with the theme "Y-Teens Around The World." The table that the club decorated represented Holland. Besides dressing dolls at Christmas time, several members of the club participated in an Easter carol sing at the Little Sisters of the Poor. Shirley Klashorst was the capable Interclub Council member and kept the club informed as to the work of the other clubs.

8th Grade Y - Teens

Under the guidance of Miss Damkot, the Eighth Grade Y-Teens organized early in the semester. The first event of the year was a welcome party for the new members which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. To be of service can well describe this organization. As an illustration of their work they contributed five dollars to World Fellowship, dressed 36 dolls for the Santa Claus girls and went Christmas caroling with the city Y-Teen Interclub Council. They also contributed chocolate bars that were sent overseas to the children in many countries. During November the group had a Thanksgiving Day program and in April they went Easter caroling to the "Little Sisters Home." The big event of the year was the National Y-Teen Day banquet on April 26. The theme of the banquet was "Y-Teens Around The World."

Activities

PHYSICS

Physics is the most practical course offered. It acquaints the student with everyday phenomena. Mr. Vander Veen often adds bits of his own wisdom which are always interesting.

CHEMISTRY

Often the halls are filled with peculiar odors. These originate from the experiments performed in chemistry lab.

TYPING

This course is a very important one. The knowledge acquired in typing prepares many people for a successful future.

LATIN

This is the only foreign language offered. Students enjoy this class very much. Shown are several students looking over Latin valentines.

DEBATE

Debate has once again been organized at Lee and it has proved very profitable. We wish next year's debate team much success.

JOURNALISM

The main purpose of journalism is to gain a knowledge of writing and editing. This class also has charge of publishing the Ariel and Ariel-ette.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

Speaking is a fundamental to everyone. Effective and sound knowledge in speech is the objective here. Voice quality is also studied.

HOMEMAKING

Home-nursing, child psychology, and other various necessary facts about the home are studied here. It is practical and very interesting.

GEOMETRY

This is a class in which special concentration is required. It is a course in math prior to higher algebra and trigonometry.

QUILL AND SCROLL

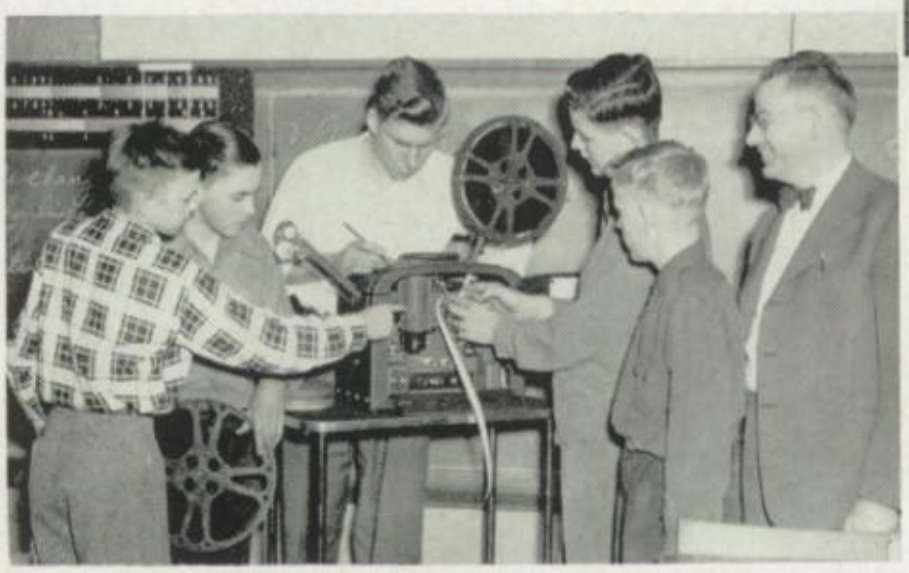
A new club, not fully organized, is Quill and Scroll International. It has only a few members but hopes are high for a larger club next year.

MECHANICAL DRAWING

Students who are interested in engineering or architecture find this course very helpful. It has to do with fine measurements and the art of blue-printing.

GIRLS PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The girls in this class promote co-operation and good character through sports. Here good sportsmanship is a fundamental.

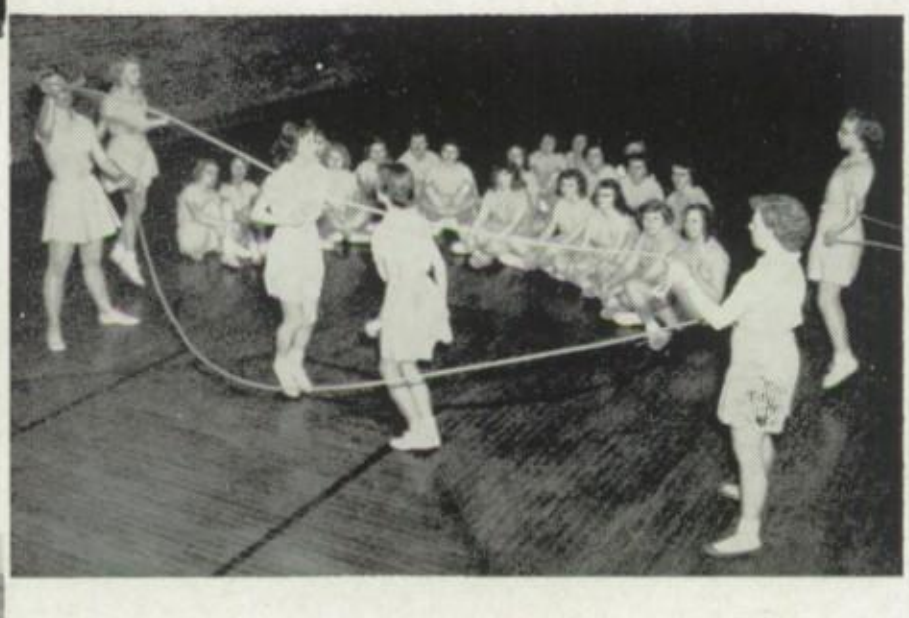


BOOKKEEPING

A course in bookkeeping prepares a student to go out into the world of business. It also develops a deeper understanding of accounting.

MANUAL TRAINING

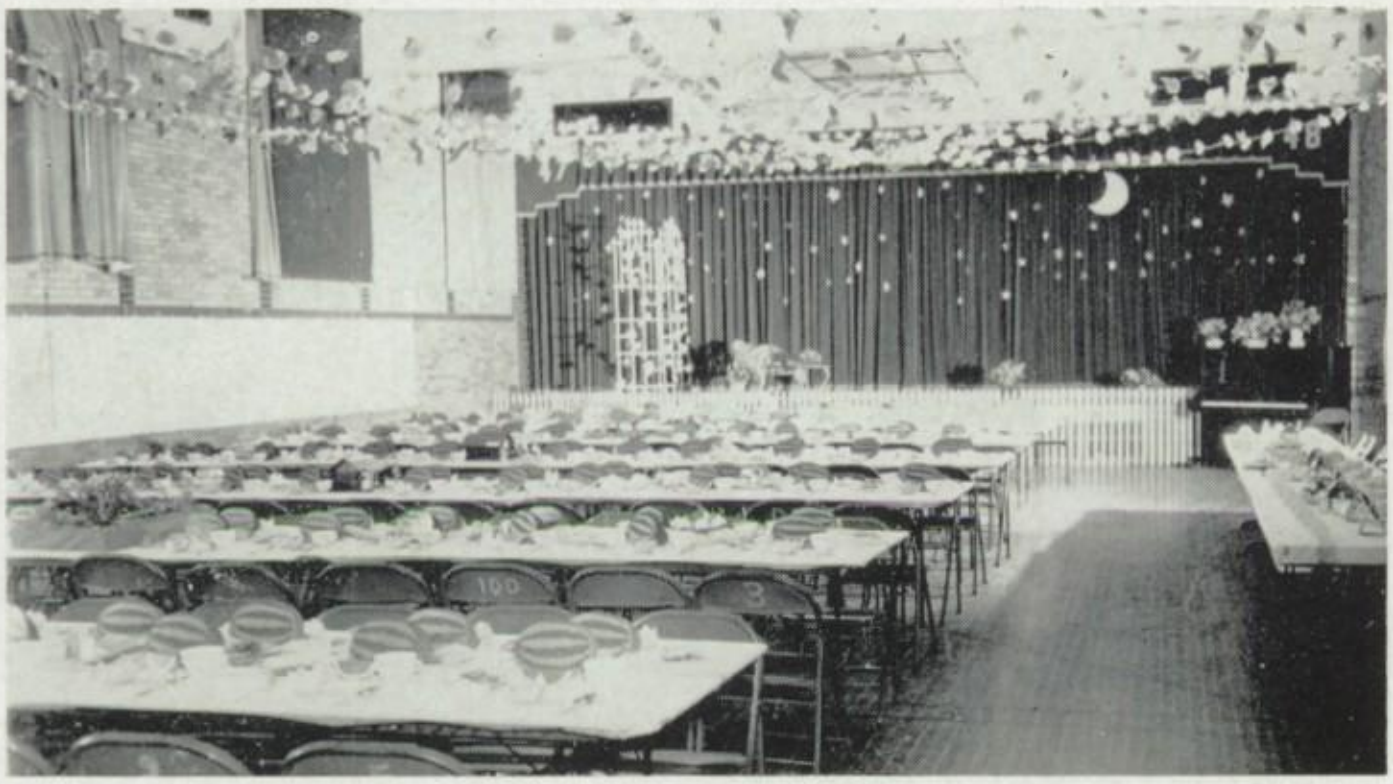
Shop is the only class where industrious boys get a chance to try their skills in wood-working. Here they learn the use of tools and a sense of responsibility.



PROJECTIONISTS

Whenever a movie is to be shown, one of these students takes over. As a committee, these people also select some of the movies.

Junior-Senior Banquet



'Neath the southern moon.

With flowers suspended in mid-air, a glittery starry back ground, a sweet aroma of perfume floating through the air, beautiful formals swirling through the auditorium, white pillars adorning balconies, unusual table decorations, murals along the walls depicting Southern Plantation Life, delicious food, a beautiful stage and wonderful dinner music—All of these constituted the 1950 Junior-Senior Banquet.

Top: That big moment.
Bottom: The guests.

Top: Your autograph, please.
Bottom: Where do we sit?

Junior Play

The Junior Class presented "They Gave Him A Co-Ed," on November 16 and 17. "Of all the zany plots ever conjured in the fertile mind of a dramatist this play is a delegate for top honors. Maybe the term "screwy" would best describe it. Every character denotes youth, every part is custom built for laughs, and romance abounds in its most elementary stages—This is the laugh sensation of the year."

Shown are several scenes from the play, "They Gave Him A Co-Ed."

Senior Play

This year's Senior Play, "Cheaper by the Dozen," directed by Mrs. Osbeck, proved to be a hit. The members in the cast practiced long hours to make it a success and extensive work was done by the make-up, properties, publicity, and ticket committees. The amount of money taken in was the largest sum ever acquired from a play at Lee High.

This story, which takes place in the Roaring 20's, shows how a father manages in a scientific way to raise a family of twelve children.

Shown are several scenes from the play, "Cheaper by the Dozen."

Homecoming

A moment to remember.

A full harvest moon, cool autumn breeze, excited anticipation, and then, "Hail to the Queen"

The highlighting event of the annual Lee Homecoming game between Lee and Grandville came when Homecoming Queen, Beverly Hall, and her two attendants appeared on their float which was covered with cornstalks, straw, and pumpkins, depicting "Harvesttime." Dressed in typical harvest attire of peasant skirt and blouse, Bev, who had been selected by her Senior classmates, was crowned by former queen Marlene Bobledyke. Bev. received several gifts and a beautiful trophy by which to remember this wonderful occasion.

We are proud to present . . . .

The first period of each morning is devoted to vocal music. The Glee Club this year was very busy preparing for the spring festival during these periods of practice. In the first semester the choir supplied all of the music for the Christmas pageant, singing carols and hymns of the various nations of the world. The Girls' Glee Club also presented "Moments of Music" in the Eighth Reformed Church. In the second semester the spring festival was presented in May. A pancake supper was sponsored to help pay off the balance on the new robes. The attendance clerk was Carol Crandle and the pianists were Lois Rose, Donna Tuinstra and Delores Zuidema.

Band

The Band Officers

The Major and Majorettes

The Band, under the direction of Mr. Hollenbeck, was very active during the entire year. The first assignment was the football games highlighted by the homecoming game. Following were performances at the Santa Claus parade, Rotary, Kelloggsville, the Grand Valley Festival, Commencement, TagDay Parade, and the News Boy Drive. The highlight of the year was the annual spring concert. Many of the people also took part in the District and State Solo Ensemble Festival. The final competition for the Band was the District and State Band Festival. The pep band, which is the band, modified, played at basketball games and the P.T.A. and Senior plays. The officers of the year were: President, Walter Hay; Vice-president, Susanne Kinsey; Secretary-Treasurer, Ann Alberda; Student Council, Judy Zoerhof and Librarian, Louis Faught.

Lee High School had six peppy cheerleaders this year. The student body often does not realize the effort that these individuals put forth in order to keep the spirit of the team up. They also plan and carry out the pep assemblies at which there have been some unusual skits performed.

The highlight of the year for them was the Cheer Leader Clinic held at Ann Arbor.

Sports

Football

The Rebels enjoyed a very profitable and victorious football season. The team started the year with 10 returning lettermen and opened the actual playing with a hard-fought 14-6 victory over the North Muskegon Norsemen. The following week the Rebels seemed to have all the breaks against them, as they fell before the Rockford Rams 19-18.

The annual Homecoming Game, which was played with Grandville before a huge crowd, proved the Rebels were not just an underdog team when they came out on top of the heap 14-0. The Zeeland game was Lee's downfall as the Chix won by a score of 20-7. The Rebels picked up steam as they came into the East contest and snowed the League favorites under 27 to 7.

Then came the big game with Godwin: the winner of this contest would be the probable League champion. Godwin got one of their scatbacks loose to defeat the Rebels 17-6. The Rebels roared back the next week by scoring a 26-6 victory over Lowell and then continued their winning streak with a 12-6 victory over Wyoming, the final League game of the year. The boys ended their season by fighting Allegan to a scoreless tie in six inches of snow.

Fifteen boys ended their playing days for the Rebels. Next year the team will have 10 returning lettermen. The boys closed the season by electing Gordon Gort and Don Opdendyk co-captains of the team.

Football Reserves

The reserve team, which was coached by Mr. Postema, was a team that improved as the season progressed. After losing a hard-fought battle to Catholic Central, the Little Rebels came back to defeat Rockford 27-13. In spite of the fact that Lee won the Grandville game 12-0, they lost the four successive contests to Kelloggsville, East, Godwin, and Lowell; however, the biggest upset of the year came when the reserves downed the undefeated Wyoming Vikings 12-0. Although the Little Rebels did not fare too well in the won and lost columns they showed great prospects for next year's varsity.

Basketball

The 1950-51 basketball season proved to be a heartbreaker for the Rebels, as the team lost many close games. After leading most of the way in these games Lee proved to have a fairly successful season with a record of 6 wins and 8 losses. The team had another bitter pill to swallow when Coach Sabin fell in the middle of the season. However, Mr. Postema, who was already coaching the reserves, took over the responsibilities of the varsity.

During the year the team continued as a threat to their opponents. After winning a non-conference game from Zeeland they fell before East. Next they downed Rockford and Lowell but later lost to Godwin and Kelloggsville. The Rebels then upset the Wyoming Vikings only to fall before the Grandville team to close the first round of the season. In the second round the team defeated the Lowell and Kelloggsville teams. Although Lee fought hard, they were beaten in the remainder of their games.

In the tournaments the Rebels opened with a victory over Hudsonville and ended their schedule by losing to Kelloggsville. Dick Schram was elected by his team mates as captain of this 1950-51 basketball squad.

Basketball Reserves

The reserve basketball team of this year proved to be one of great success. The reserves won victories over Rockford, Lowell, Grandville, and twice over Godwin and Kelloggsville. They lost games to Rockford, Lowell, Zeeland, East, and two games to Wyoming. The team proved to be nearly unbeatable in the early stages of the season. After opening the season with a loss they went on to five straight victories over League opponents. The team was composed of freshmen and sophomores completely, which indicates that next year's team will be one to watch. The Little Rebels were coached by Mr. Postema with great success and ended the season by electing Ben Vander Weide as captain.

Track

The 1950 track team proved to be a team of balanced power with no one person outstanding. Although the team did not fare too well as far as the win column goes, it did show some outstanding streaks of talent, but could never seem to get its power together at the same time.

The thinclads opened their season by dropping a match to East. They then downed the Rockford Rams by a close margin and lost two close meets in two weeks to Godwin and Lowell. They then battled back with victories over Grandville and Wyoming. The team ended the dual meets with a 3-3 record. In the Grand Valley Conference it ended up in a sixth place tie with Rockford.

The team, which was coached by Mr. Sabin, elected Gordon Gort as captain for the year. The thinclads were Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman runners and will provide material for a better season in the coming year.

Baseball

The baseball season was not too profitable this year as far as victories are concerned, but it added the experience that was needed by the Rebels for next year.

The team opened its season with a 15-0 victory over Kelloggsville, but then was downed with a score of 14-7 by a hard-hitting Grandville team. Lee dropped to Wyoming a close 4-3 contest in a 7 inning game. After 5 innings of scoreless ball by both teams, the Godwin Wolverines pulled away to win 5-0 over the luckless Rebels.

The following week at Lowell the Rebels played the Redbirds in the rain and mud with the Lowell team coming out on top by the score of 15-3. Lee then turned on the heat and downed the League-leading Rockford Rams by the score of 7-6 with all the boys playing outstanding ball. The team ended its season by falling before East with the score of 12-10 in an extra inning game. Glenn Hop and LaVerne DeYoung were elected as co-captains of the Rebel team.

Tennis

The 1950 tennis squad proved to be one of the best the school has ever had in the won and lost department. The team had only four returning lettermen, but still went on to take second place in the Conference and reached the semi-finals in the Regionals.

The squad opened their season with a victory over the Grandville Bulldogs; then, for the second victory in as many nights, they whitewashed the Wyoming Vikings and went on to win an easy victory over Lowell. The Godwin Wolverines proved to be worthy opponents; however, they couldn't hold off the Rebels who won all three of the doubles matches. Rockford could not stop the Lee netmen, although the Rams gave the Rebels a hard-fought battle. Then came the East game and the Rebels dropped a tough match to the Conference Champs for their only defeat of the season.

At the Regionals the Rebels saw all their singles men fall in the first match while the doubles teams, DeYoung-Kennedy and Timmer-Tasma, fell in the quarter finals. Brown and Hughes were defeated in the semi-finals in a close match with East. Wayne Kennedy was elected captain to end a successful year for the Rebel netmen.
